

Berkley Life Sciences LLC to Present at Upcoming 14th Annual ACE Conference – America's Claims Event

The current economic environment is forcing risk managers and others charged with managing claims to change their approach to litigation management. Economic pressure to preserve revenues and contain costs spotlights the need to manage claims legal expenses efficiently without sacrificing effectiveness. How can companies navigate this new litigation landscape without losing their footing?

Berkley Life Sciences LLC, the only insurance carrier focusing exclusively on the insurance needs of life science companies, announces that it will address this question in a panel session at the upcoming 14th Annual ACE Conference - America's Claims Event - on June 23rd at 11:00 AM at The Bellagio in Las Vegas, NV.

The session titled, "Best Practices in the New Litigation Landscape," features a panel discussion moderated by Kevin Quinley CPCU, Vice President, Risk Services for Berkley Life Sciences LLC. Panel members discussing cost effective litigation strategies along with Kevin include claims experts:

- Mark Habersack, Risk Manager, Nevada Chapter of RIMS Delegate
- Stephen Henning, Vice President, Swiss Re America
- Bruce Raymond, Partner, Raymond & Bennett LLC

The 14th Annual ACE is the only industry event that addresses the strategic and tactical challenges of senior and executive managers directly involved with claims handling and processing operations. Over 400 senior claims managers, risk managers, inside and outside counsel, and other executive level managers will select the 14th Annual Americas Claims Event as their source for critical strategic intelligence and the venue for making and nurturing important business relationships.
