

Berkley Life Sciences LLC Offers New Risk Management Webinar on “Best Practices to Avoid & Minimize Life Science Litigation: a U.S. and E.U. Perspective”

Legal Experts to Offer Tips on Claim Prevention ... in US and in EU

Berkley Life Sciences LLC, which focuses exclusively on the insurance needs of life science companies, announces its next risk management webinar on Wednesday, May 25th at 2:00 PM (EDT).

The theme for this event, one of an ongoing series of online educational offerings, is “Best Practices to Avoid & Minimize Life Science Litigation: a U.S. and E.U. Perspective.” The webinar features:

- Kevin Quinley, Vice President, Risk Management Resources for Berkley Life Sciences, LLC
- Gerald (“Gerry”) P. Schneeweis, Partner at Morris Polich & Purdy LLP
- Philip Rodney, Chairman of Burness LLP
- Joanna Fulton, Associate, Burness LLP

About the webinar ...

Recurring issues in product liability litigation against life science companies place a heightened premium on claim prevention. “Black swans” occur not just in the form of tsunamis, hurricanes and earthquakes. They can descend upon life science firms cloaked as product liability meltdowns: lawsuits, class actions and multi-district litigation. Moreover, “game plans” and templates that serve companies well in the US may not necessarily be optimal in the European Union, and vice versa.

In this webinar, you will learn how to:

- Minimize claims arising from off-label use
- Execute simple yet key risk management steps to minimize the odds of product liability claims
- Adopt adverse event reporting that serves patient safety yet minimizes needless product liability exposures
- Distinguish between claim prevention plans that work best in the U.S. and ones that work best in the E.U.

This webinar will offer tips to help life science firms build strong risk management programs, or shore up their existing systems. The webinar will include an interactive question and answer session.
